School & Program Updates

Jason Peschel is now the SDC Director (😊)

Jolie Kaytes, LA Program Head

Spring salutations! We’re thrilled to conclude the semester with words of celebration and appreciation. As such:

Copious congratulations go to the Class of 2023 whose first LA studio happened online, during the pandemic’s peak. Exuberant applause are extended to graduating senior Mallak Al-Salmi, freshly honored by the Landscape Architecture Foundation. Huge hoorahs are hollered out for the many WSU LA alumni whose projects received WASLA awards. A thousand thanks are lavished upon all who participated in the portfolio review in Seattle and the Berger Partnership, Design 24/26, and the Baumwelt for sponsoring the Spring Celebration. Ample accolades are offered to the below listed scholarship recipients. And, ongoing gratitude goes to scholarship donors and organizations for their steadfast support of WSU LA students.

Studio Highlights

Sophomores researched community parks and partnered with Pullman Parks and Recreation to develop designs for the Woodcraft and Gannon Neighborhood Parklets near campus.

Juniors partnered with the Ghana-based CSO Mmofra Foundation to develop a master plan and a detailed landscape design proposal for a 9-acre Mixed Use District in Accra.

Juniors also designed and built hardscape features and site furniture for the Kelly Ward Memorial in the Presidential Arboretum on campus.

Seniors worked with Malden and Pine City, WA. The class imagined alternative possible futures for the towns and student projects were informed by the interrelated issues of fire, climate change, resilience, adaptation, and land-use planning. Check out the news coverage: Spokane NPR and KREM TV

LA Professional Advisory Board Notes

The LA Professional Advisory Board (LAPAB) met in Pullman in late March and delightedly welcomed new members Jena Jauchius, Lizbeth Maldonado, and Marcus Rowell.

Along with meeting with students from across cohorts, the board discussed strategies for bolstering communication, celebrating student achievements, and encouraging students to take advantage of scholarship opportunities. To this end: check out the WSU LA LinkedIn and page 1 of the newsletter.

The Program and Board also send heartfelt appreciation to Holly Williams who stepped down from the LAPAB at the beginning of the year.

The SDC Central Board and LA Board will meet in-person on the Westside in the fall.
